

Weak pigeonhole principle and approximate counting

Emil Jerabek

Institute of Mathematics of the Academy of Sciences, Prague, Czech Republic jerabek@math.cas.cz

I will talk about methods for simulating approximate counting arguments in subsystems of bounded arithmetic using variants of the weak pigeonhole principle. I will present the general framework, as well as an application to proofs of Ramsey theorem in bounded arithmetic.