

Ramsey theorem in computational complexity

Pavel Pudlak

Institute of Mathematics of the Academy of Sciences, Prague, Czech Republic pudlak@math.cas.cz

I will survey results in computational complexity that are connected with the finite Ramsey Theorem. I will mention two types of results. First, lower bounds on circuit complexity that were proved using the Ramsey Theorem. Second, results concerning explicit constructions of graphs with only small homogeneous subsets.